

Respected Sir/Madam,

I am writing to seek urgent assistance from the Indian Air Force veteran community regarding a critical family matter that has left me and my child in severe financial and emotional distress.

My father, Late Mr Prakash Jiwaji Subnis served in the Indian Air Force for 9 years, and as his daughter, I am reaching out to respected Air Force veterans, hoping for guidance, mediation, and strong intervention to help resolve this matter swiftly.

My husband and his family have abandoned their financial and moral responsibilities toward me and my child.

Despite being financially well-off, they are falsely claiming bankruptcy to evade their legal and financial obligations toward us.

They are intentionally delaying payments and using legal loopholes to avoid fulfilling their duties, creating immense mental, emotional, and financial stress.

Due to my and daughter's health condition and current lack of financial independence, I cannot afford a prolonged legal battle.

My daughter was previously healthy, but due to constant stress, she has developed serious health issues.

She suffers from constant headaches, fainting and low blood pressure

I am not seeking financial assistance from the Air Force veteran community.

However, I need support, mediation, and intervention to ensure that my husband fulfills his legal and moral financial obligations toward me and my child.

I believe that a strong and respected voice from the Air Force community can apply the right pressure to make him stop evading his responsibilities and take immediate corrective action.

I would sincerely appreciate the opportunity to discuss this further at your convenience. If you or anyone in your network can assist me in any way through mediation, influence, or advice, I would be truly grateful.
